

ANDALUSIA & MARBELLA

Andalusia is without doubt the “heart & soul” of Spain. Andalusia is the cradle of all the stereotypes that have made Spain famous in the world: Flamenco, bulls, Sherry wine, Tapas, sunshine, golden beaches, joy of life, etc.

Its cities are pre-eminent as notorious landmarks in Spain: The history of Seville, the Moorish presence in Granada, the cradle of Wine & Bulls in Cadiz, the fabulous beaches in Malaga....and above all, the authenticity of the hinterland and the friendliness of its people. In Andalusia you will experience something unique !!!

Guided visit of Mijas

The village of Mijas is a fine example of a typical pueblo blanco. Perched on the mountains that surround the Costa del Sol, Mijas has a charm all of its own. Narrow winding streets, white-washed houses, chapels and a very easy-going pace of life make of Mijas the stereotype of Andalusian rural architecture.

Upon arrival in Mijas we will indicate the most typical sites: the famous Cave of the Virgen de la Peña, the charming bullring, the view-points from where to enjoy breathtaking views of the coast, and of course all the souvenir and pottery shops.

Wine tasting + lunch in Mijas

The privately run wine museum is indeed a must-to-see. In a family surrounding your guests could carry out a tasting session of the most typical Málaga wines, ranging from very dry to very sweet. While admiring the numerous rarities, they may learn a lot about history, production and qualities.

Tapas Tour in Malaga

When in Spain, do as the Spaniards do: we suggest to discover the real Málaga and its culture while strolling through the tiny streets of the beautiful old town and stop off for a drink in a cosy taverns.

Get to know the Spanish habit of "Tapear", which means tasting tapas (appetisers). Hopping from one to the other bar, we will taste a wide variety of the most exclusive Andalusian starters accompanied by wines, beer or soft drinks and have dinner in a different, the Spanish way.
